

Prof. Dr. Margret Lepp

Institute of Health and Care Sciences, The Sahlgrenska Academy, University of Gothenburg, Sweden

Curriculum Vitae

Dr Margret Lepp, professor at the Institute of Health and Care Sciences, The Sahlgrenska Academy, at the University of Gothenburg, is a leading researcher in the field of applied theatre in nursing education. For over twenty years she has involved educational drama in her work as a researcher and consultant involving students, patients, health care professionals, nurses and teachers of nursing, as well as schoolteachers. She was a key researcher in the international DRACON (Drama and Conflict Management) project between 1994-2005 involving Sweden, Malaysia and Australia. She is the co-author of "Drama for Life. Stories of Adult Learning and Empowerment". She is the current president of Tau Omega Chapter, Sigma Theta Tau International (STTI), Honor Society of Nursing.