Dr Björn-Ove Suserud

Associate Professor, University of Borås, School of Health Sciences, Borås, Sweden

Curriculum Vitae

Dr Suserud is one of the scientific leaders of the Swedish Prehospital Research Centre, named PreHospen. The centre is nationally as well as internationally well established with researchers and doctoral students who work to develop and improve pre-hospital emergency care and care at emergency medical contact points (assessments and priorities in the ambulance services).

Dr Suserud tutors several projects on quality development within the ambulance service, for example research about computerised decision support system and ambulance safety. He also teaches at the University of Borås in subjects as, Pre-hospital Emergency Care and Disaster Medicine.

He has published several scientific articles on subjects within prehospital emergency care and also been co-author in textbooks for this field.
